Yesterday we published a letter addressed by the Acting Colonial Secretary to the Chairman of the Hongkong Chamber of Commerce on the question of the armaments left for Vladivostock on the 31st idem, and were of the forts which should, we think, have due in Nagasaki on the 11th inst. Several of seen the light at least two weeks earlier. The letter is dated the 26th July, and presumably there was no delay in its despatch also to the fact that there has been previous sent to gaol for a year, and one was discharged. correspondence on the subject, and lastly, taking into consideration the fact that the delay in sending out the breech-load with the business of ravising the treaty between without acquainting the Police until he was by the French Consul, have been exceedingly trater of Macao. That official ordered the box ing guns promised for the fortifications animadversion both on the War Office opened, but it is expected that they will be comand the Colonial Government, the Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce should have been prompt to publish Dr. STEWART's last letter. No doubt the omission was purely inadvertent, but it certainly should not have occurred, as the delay in its appearance is calculated to raise a suspicion of a want of fairplay. The letter was written with the express view of clearing up a misapprehension existing in the minds of the community and to show that the members of Councilof course including the Hon. P. Ryars, the Chairman of the Chamber of Commercehad a list of all the guns to be supplied before them when the vote for £60,375 was taken, and that they therefore knew what on the Clyde, specially constructed for the necessity for labour. During the period 1840- that the works would in the end have cost more India, Australia, and China. I recollect Tues at 4 a.m. with the Inspector, and we walked they were voting for. Dr. Stewart goes be completed and sent out with the utmost gifts of free land by the U. S. Government to own Engineer's. So that big Million-Tael job in the office where I sit about 3 p.m. on that day. the 7th of this month by name. I had on to remark " that the only deviatious from | despatch. that list which are probable are in the nature of an augmentation in the number of the writing from Soul, says that choice has fairly Irishman had some ground for his boast that in substantial success of the German Syndicate is slip of paper in his own handwriting with various tition, not a foot from the Inspector. It was my guns and an increase in their power," and adds "that an invoice has now been received their mountings, for which freight has been taken up." That letter was addressed to an attack, due to want of information, upon the Hongkong Government for alleged waste antiquated type, appeared in the N. C. Daily gretted that the letter was not then published. Fairplay is a jewel, and if the unofficial members knew what the guns were to be before they voted the money why could not they have given publicity to the fact? For our own more favourable conditions. A short time since the establishment of Irish dominion in the great Afan's native place near Tam Sui, in the Kwang signed by myself. SUPREME COURT

17th August. IN BANKRUPTCY.

CHIEF JUSTICE.

IN THE MATTER OF FREDERICK

HUNERFAUTH.

Mr. Hunerfauth came before the Court custody of a gad official to apply in forma pauperis that he should be adjudicated a bankrupt He was then undergoing imprisonment under a warrant issued by Mr. H. Campbell, hairdresser, his former employer in connection with a judgment recently obtained against the applicant, the amount of which was $426. Mr. Webber (from the office of Mr. Ewens) appeared for the judgment creditor and another creditor to oppose the application. The Acting Registrar and Official Assignee, Mr. A. G. Wise, read the debtor's petition and schedule. The petition was filed on the 11th August, and in the schedule the debts were estimated to amount to $510, and the assets to $166. The debtor, in answer to his Lordship, said his assets consisted entirely of clothing; he had nothing else. Mr. Webber submitted that this was an at tempt to make use of the Bankruptcy Ordinance for the purpose of getting out of gaol, and that t was never the intention of that Ordinance to enable a person who was imprisoned for debt to make use of it to get out of prison without discharging his debts. The judgment creditor had a claim of over $400, principally for money lent, and there were other smaller creditors. His Lordship said there was no evidence fore him as to the nature of the claim. The debtor was then examined by Mr. Web ber, and in answer to that gentleman he stated that a friend of his, Mr. Taufer, had prepared the schedule for him which he had put in. The claim of Mr. Campbell was chiefly for money advanced, some to pay off promissory notes.

Mr. Campbell, however, had charged him more than he ought. He had brought an action against Mr. Campbell himself, but he had lost it as he had not sufficient proof. He desied having incurred expenses of an extravagant character, and he stated that his debts were chiefly due to some unfortunate speculations in cigars. H denied having borrowed any money whatever from Mr. Moore. His Lordship in the course of some remarks which were nearly all inaudible at the reporters' desk, said he did not see what good end was to be gained by keeping the debtor in gael. It would be better to liberate him and enable him to do justice to his creditors. The application was then granted, and the debtor was liberated after paying some small ad-He-will come up for examination on the 3rd
